THE GIRL I USED TO KNOW.

When in a reverie serene
I stray with willing feet
To the time when I was young and green
And mighty in conceit,
There comes to me a memory
Of the days of long ago
And the pretty, sun-browned face I see
Of that girl I used to know.

We "went together" moon and moon;
Together we rode and strolled;
Together we spent our afternoons
And romanced in moonlight cold
Till all the town had set it down
On the cards as a certain "fool"
Between myself and that maiden brown—
That girl I used to know.

There are surprises in the years,
That girl and I apart,
Forgot each other without tears
Or damage of the heart,
I met her once—the other day—
With another girl in tow.
"No daughter, sir," I heard her say—
That girl I used to know!

And so I wonder, as I face
Those pleasant yesterdays,
If yet it may not come to be,
In Time's uncertain hours,
That I may learn to fall in love
As in the long ago,
But this time with the daughter of
That girl I used to know!

STEAMBOAT MATTERS.

WHAT IS GOING ON ALONG THE BEAUTIFUL OHIO RIVER.

Driftwood Gathered on Shore at Steamboat Landing. The Leader's Weather-Beaten Old Tar and Piled Up Ready For Use.

There is only two feet of water in the channel at Portsmouth—the lowest for eight years.

The M. P. Wells, now trying to run between this city and Cincinnati, spends most of her time on the bar at Eight Mile.

The Cincinnati papers announce that there will be no more boats for Upper Ohio points until further notice—that is, until there is a rise in the river or until it goes dry and a sled line is started along its bed.

REMEMBER, THE LEADER prints "Help Wanted," "Lost," "Found," and similar notices not of a business character, free of charge. The only thing we require is that the copy be sent in before 9 o'clock on day of publication.

NEAR Scott's Ridge Station, Marion county, Ohio, Horton emptied a load of shot into his wife and the babe she had in her arms. The child will recover but it is thought the wife will die. The authorities promised to arrest Horton a day or so ago.

NEAR GRAYSON Sylvester Adams was shot and instantly killed, and his nephew, Oscar Adams, seriously wounded by J. D. Chandler. They had quarreled over a right of way, and Adams and his nephew were beating Bennett with clubs when he shot them.

KENTUCKY now holds the fastest trotting record, Nancy Hanks 2:04; the fastest four-year-old stallion record, Mouquette, 2:10; the fastest two-year-old record, Silson, 2:14; the fastest race record, any age, Martha Wilkes, 2:08; the fastest three-year-old record for a filly, Kentucky Union, 2:12.

M. E. BOWDITCH, a merchant of Bowling Green, was arrested at Louisville for having set fire to his store. At the same time Mrs. Bowditch and a colored servant were arrested at the former place on the same charge. There was a fire insurance on the stock and the fire occurred in a way that needs some explanation.

W. H. CHATFIELD of Cincinnati wanted to make a living without working for it, so he went into stock gambling. Losing all he had, he induced his young wife to invest every dollar of her property, and they are now both broke. So much for backing against the religious tiger.

IF Chatfield had played honest faro, he would have been called a gambler, but as he tackled the "bracket game" known as the Stock Exchange, he is only a "speculator."

GROVER CLEVELAND, when President, appointed a New York negro, as black as the ace of spades, over Colonel Dick Wintersmith of Louisville, a white Kentucky Democrat, for Register of Deeds at Washington. The position was a $30,000 one. How can those white men, who propose to scratch Judge Holt because he voted for a negro over a white man for the little $2,000 a year office, swallow Grover Cleveland who gave a negro a $30,000 job over a white Kentucky Democrat?

THE French were the originators of the modern exposition, and their first effort in this direction was in 1789, the idea having been suggested by Bonaparte just before he left on his ill-starred expedition to Egypt. When he returned and became First Consul he encouraged the idea, and between 1801 and 1815 half a dozen expositions were held in Paris. They were so popular and so profitable that the French continued them, and the last great fair held in Paris was the most successful ever known.

A CINCINNATI saloon-keeper, whose place of business was entered by burglars, has published a funny advertisement in one of the papers. "I invite those who were impolite enough to call on me during my absence and helped themselves to my wine, lunch, beer and cigars, to come again when I am at home. If they will return the empty bottles I will pay them three cents apiece for them. Should they desire to bring any of their friends I will see to it that the musical entertainment is arranged for their benefit."

MRS. MARY ANN RUSSELL.

The End of a Noble Christian Life—Funeral at 10 o'clock This Morning.

Mrs. Mary Ann Russell, wife of Christopher Russell and mother of M. C. Russell, died at her home on East Third street at 6 o'clock Saturday evening after an illness of several weeks.

She was a most estimable lady and possessed a noble Christian character. For long years she had been a devoted member of the Christian Church. A wide circle of friends and acquaintances, who had the highest regard and esteem for her, will be grieved to learn of her death.

The maiden name of the deceased was Miss Mary Ann Maule. She was a native of Pennsylvania, having been born in that state on June 14th, 1814. In November, 1839, she was united in marriage to Christopher Russell in Highland county, Ohio. Her husband survives her and is among our most respected citizens. Since their marriage they have always been residents of Maysville. Of seven children born to this union but M. C. Russell of this city is left.

The funeral will occur at 10 o'clock this morning from her late residence, services by Rev. C. S. Lucas, Pastor of the Christian Church.

A SPECIAL to The Commercial Gazette from Augusta says: J. P. McCartney, Republican candidate for Congress in the Ninth District, addressed a large audience at Louisville yesterday. DR. M. S. SALE of Lexington, owner of Temple Bar, the sensational trotting stallion and who was ruled out, together with his horse at Cleveland last year, is red-hot over the way he has been treated by the Board of Review. He says he is debating in his mind whether or not to have all the members of the board arrested for defamation of character and prosecute them to the full extent of the law.

A WORTHY BRACKEN COUNTYAN.

Martin Finn of Brookville an Honor to Irish-Americans.

Martin Finn is a native of Ireland, a fact of which he is not at all ashamed, and no one has cause to be ashamed of it for him. He came to this country in 1858, going directly to Brookville, where he has remained ever since, not only "growing up with the country," but raising a worthy family as well, thus helping the country to grow up with him.

Immediately on his arrival he began work on the turnpike, and it was not long until he became a contractor for a portion of the road that leads to Milford. On the completion of his contract the company owed him some $600, without the ability to pay it, and it is one of the incidents of his life that although he has a long-standing judgment against the concern, on which considerable has been paid, the balance of the original debt and interests exceeds $1,000.

Several years ago Mr. Finn engaged in the hotel business, and his house has long been the resort for all who travel through that section. The Finn Hotel is one of the institutions of Bracken county, and for genuine hospitality and plenty of good eating it is second to no other house in this part of Kentucky.

Mr. Finn has acquired a handsome competency, and it is THE LEADER's wish that he may be spared to enjoy it for many years.

A Cold in the Throat.

A reported outbreak of cholera at Belmont, N. J., created much excitement in that vicinity. Investigation showed that the disease was not cholera but a violent dysentery, which is almost as severe and dangerous as cholera. Mr. Walter Willard, a prominent merchant of Jamesburg, two miles from Belmont, says Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy has given great satisfaction in the most severe cases of dysentery. It is certainly one of the best things made. For sale by Power & Reynolds, Druggists.

THE CAMPAIGN IN GREENUP.

A Good Meeting and Deep Interest at the Court-house Saturday Night.

There was a large gathering at the Court-house in Greenup Saturday night, notwithstanding the inclement weather. Speeches were made by Hon. B. F. Bennett, Greenup's Representative in the Legislature, and Thomas A. Davis of this city.

Judge Bennett confined himself principally to the work of the Democratic Legislature, and said that the impression that that body had not done anything was entirely erroneous. He asked his hearers to be patient until the Sheriff came around, and they would find that the Legislature had raised their taxes for one thing. It had also employed a lot of good little boys as "messengers" at 83 a day, when the Constitution only permitted the employment of four pages. But the pages were lousier, and it was thought best to have four "messengers," so they could form four sets for boxing matches to entertain the loungers about the halls.

The Judge's satire was very amusing, and throughout his speech was strong and effective.

The Republicans are alive to the importance of the work before them, and express great confidence in the success of the ticket in that county. If every county was as well equipped as Greenup Harrison would win in Kentucky in a canter.

The official figures of the recent sales of trotters at Lexington show they were the most successful ever held there. The Abdullah Park sale realized $80,695 for 128, an average of $630.20. The regular sale at $185.00 for 234 head, an average of $79.55. The two sales amounted to $205,760 for 362, a grand average of $574.

THE Directors of the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' Association say there is no truth whatever in the rumor that the future meetings of the Association will be held in Louisville. The meetings will continue to be held in Lexington, but it is more than likely a new regulation mile track will be built that will be as fast as any in the United States.

COLONEL WILLIAM ORT, formerly of this city, has purchased the Hisey House at Concord. It has been thoroughly overhauled and refitted, and will be known hereafter as the Sherman House. Those who favor Colonel Ort with their patronage may enjoy the best treatment and a generous supply of the best that the market affords. See advertisement elsewhere in THE LEADER.

SENATOR BLACKBURN.

His Speech Saturday Night a Fair Sample of Modern Democracy.

Senator J. C. Blackburn addressed the citizens of Maysville at the Court-house last Saturday night. Of course it was a political speech and a Democratic one at that. A large crowd greeted him composed of about as many Republicans as Democrats.

The speaker's references to Cleveland in his address to Congress, and his remarks on the tariff, were altogether forgotten. The tariff was handled sparingly. The Force Bill, already so changed and perverted by a Democratic Congress for campaign purposes that it bears little resemblance to the original measure, was treated and exaggerated by the imaginative Senator.

The Democrats are pursuing different tactics toward the colored man in this campaign. Heretofore their politeness toward him at election times has been remarkable. This time it is shown that they are satisfied that the colored man cannot be induced to vote with them; therefore the cry is "damn the nigger anyway." When Senator Blackburn was in Maysville last he was a candidate for re-election. Then he made it a point to have himself introduced to the prominent colored citizens. He could be seen all over the streets engaged in conversation with them. Then, when he was elected, the time he was with them was over. In his speech he lauded the prosperity of the country to the skies, but he did not say that all of it was due to Republican measures and Republican legislation. His real speech was still further shot of a gigantic misrepresentation of every subject he touched.

W. G. Dearing preceded the Senator.

Death from Diphtheria.

Milda, the eight-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Schaeffer, died at 8 o'clock Saturday night at the home of her parents on corner of Lexington and Second streets of diphtheria.

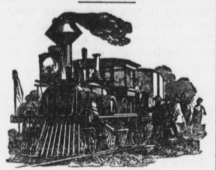

She had been ill but a few days, and the disease is almost always fatal. The funeral occurred last night showing themselves on Tuesday last.

The funeral occurred at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Haldy of Cincinnati, grandparents of the little one, did not arrive until 5 o'clock having missed the train. It was the largest possible funeral for the body of the father and mother have the sympathy of all in their sorrow.

AMONG THE RAILROADS.

THE STEEL HIGHWAYS THAT LEAD TO AND FROM MAYSVILLE.

Items of the Rail that Have Stopped Up and Piled Into The Leader's Columns by a Thoroughly Competent Engineer.

The pay car of the C. and O. was here Saturday, and gold pieces are as thick about town as hops in a malt-house.

AT Greenwood Charles Haynes and Lucien Patterson concluded to shoot out an old grudge, when John Jewett, a colored man, interposed as peacemaker. As usual he got the most of it, being shot and killed instantly. A man named Weatherford was wounded, Haynes was killed, and it appears that Patterson escaped unharmful. All in all, it was a regular piece of shooting.

Do You Know?

That a large percentage of deaths in this country are caused by consumption and lung trouble? A little cold neglected in the beginning often terminates in consumption. Every time you cough you increase the trouble, and an inflammation was soon started, which is difficult to cure. There is one remedy that cures quickly every kind of cough. That is Dr. Hale's Household Cough Cure. It is the best. Are you not entitled to the best? For sale at 25c and 50c a bottle at Power & Reynolds' Drugstore.

ARMOR PLATE AND PROTECTION.

Recent tests of armor plates have brought out highly interesting and important facts. First the armor itself surpasses highest expectations. Second, the great power of resistance it developed has made possible the lighting of the armor designed for three of our new war vessels without diminishing their protection in the least. Third, and best of all, it was discovered that the projectiles of home manufacture were superior to those of foreign make, notwithstanding the making of armor piercing projectiles is of very recent date in this country. It seems that with only a few years experience we now surpass in armor piercing projectiles the great Nations of Europe, with their centuries of experience. This gratifying result has been brought about solely by the fixed Republican policy of insuring that every part of our new warships should be of American manufacture.

CHOLERA.

When property treated as soon as the first symptoms appear, cholera can nearly always be cured. Patients should go immediately to bed and remain as quiet as possible. Send for a physician, but while awaiting his arrival take Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in double doses after each operation of the bowels more than natural. If there is severe pain or cramps, take it in double doses every fifteen minutes until relieved. This Remedy has been used with great success in seven epidemics of dysentery that were almost as severe and dangerous as cholera, and if used as directed a cure is almost certain. Every family should have a 50 cent bottle at hand ready for instant use. After the disease is under control castor oil must be taken to cleanse the system. No other physic or substitute will do in place of castor oil. For sale by Power & Reynolds, Druggists.

SPEECH OF ENGLISH LANGUAGE.

In 100 years the United States will probably have as many inhabitants as China, and it is not likely that Canada, Australia, New Zealand and the Cape will fall much short of half the total.

In his speech he lauded the prosperity of the country to the skies, but he did not say that all of it was due to Republican measures and Republican legislation. His real speech was still further shot of a gigantic misrepresentation of every subject he touched.

There are already signs that English is becoming the literary language of Europe. Professor Vambery, a Hungarian, published his autobiography first in an English dress, and then in the author of "The Sin of John Aveling" wrote his novel, "An Old Maid," in English, and the author of "The Crucata of Norway," himself presumably a Norwegian, frankly owns in his advertisement that he obtained the largest possible circulation for his book. It will be written in the English language.

MADMAN'S DEED.

Chas. Emmons Goes Insane and Breaks Into a Church.

Bullets, From the Pulpit Kept the Congregation out of Doors.

The Madman Provided Himself With Food, Sword, Red Fire and Revolvers and Buried the Church—Overcome With Sleep, Is Finally Captured.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Oct. 24.—Gospel truth was presented at the point of the sword, also red fire and revolvers, at the Olivet Congregational church, Sunday morning. Charles M. Emmons, a gunmaker, employed in the United States army whose mind has long been unbalanced on religion, entered the church at midnight, and barricaded the pulpit, kept the police force at bay until Sunday afternoon. Having provided himself with an abundance of ammunition and provisions for a week's stay Emmons might have been holding the fort yet, had he not fallen asleep from sheer exhaustion. Several bullet holes in the wall and around the church, recall a most remarkable Sunday.

Emmons bought a large supply of rockets, red fire, Roman candles, pin-wheels and powder. Saturday afternoon, and, taking them home, worked until midnight in the preparation of apparatus to discharge the fireworks, around the neighborhood by his pounding. He then gathered them all in a sack with several oil and alcohol lamps, and taking a crowbar with which to effect an entrance, started for the church, which he has attended fifteen years. Arriving at the church, Emmons struck a light, unlocked, unlocked, and, making his way to the pulpit, lighted his lamps, locked the doors at either side of the platform. Emmons then struck a light, unlocked, unlocked, and, making his way to the pulpit, lighted his lamps, locked the doors at either side of the platform.

To try one of his pistols he fired a shot, startling the neighbors. Then the madman arrayed himself in the church clothes, covering his face and hanging the big red bookmark of the pulpit from a string around his belt. He also brought up a chair, and began the vestry and set them on the stand. When Sexton Dickinson arrived to see his morning service, he was confronted by the emporium of apparition in the pulpit. Brandishing a revolver Emmons bade the sexton listen to the truth without interruption. Recognizing Emmons's voice, Dickinson hastily retreated, but not before the lunatic had fired three shots into the air.

The officers of the church and the police were speedily summoned, but for more than three hours Emmons stood his ground with courage unflinching. Firing time after time, he fired when it was rattled, wheeling each time instantly to cover the rear whence the officers were hoping to pounce upon him. During this time the madman read from the Psalms and Revelations, taking off his shoes after reading the verse says, "Take off thy shoes, for the temple where thou standest is holy ground."

The bass singer of the choir, as a last resort, stepped forward to the distance and inquired if there was to be no music at the service, being solemnly answered: "The daughters of music shall be laid low."

Despairing of ousting the lunatic, the plans of drowning him out with a hose or filling the church with smoke were considered and rejected. Just as the hose was about to be tried it was noticed that Emmons had dropped into a chair and was nodding. In a moment more he was asleep, and four officers had pounced upon him. Emmons struggled fiercely, but the revolver was caught in his robe, and handcuffs were hastily. Then he crept up the struggle and was made a prisoner.

Upon search it was found that Emmons had secreted the pulpit into a veritable fortress. He had poured a pound of powder into the marble urn to make, as he afterward said, the smoke more effective. He had enough canned meat, crackers and water to supply him for several days. In fact he has since admitted that he thought it might be a case of dysentery that he had an audience, adding that he would have remained there till he starved.

THE WHITE CITY.

Several State Buildings at the World's Fair Dedicated.

New York and Ohio Have Particularly Grand Occasions.

Chicago Beginning to Assume Its Natural Appearance After Its Week of Carnival—Let All Americans Read What the London Times Says.

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Kansas, Iowa and Rhode Island were the states whose buildings were dedicated Saturday. New York and Ohio had militia and music, but the exercises at the other places were simple in the extreme. The buildings dedicated are all located in the north end of the park.

According to the front in the numerous dedications of state buildings, Thursday was that of New York. No other state surpassed her in the number and character of dedications. Many were participating in the exercises, and the building itself proved to be one of the finest in all the White city. A large assembly, and the invited guests alone numbered 900.

After music and prayer, the exercises began with the formal assignment of the building to the state of New York by Chauncey M. Depew, as president of the board of managers of the exhibit of the state of New York. He then made acceptance of the building by Director General Davis, and next addresses by Gov. Flower and Archbishop Corrigan.

The dedication party by William McElroy and music by Sousa's marine band successfully brought the dedication to a close.

The city is beginning to assume its natural appearance. All the out-going morning trains are crowded with visitors returning to their homes.

London, Oct. 24.—The Times throughout its article on the Chicago Columbian celebration, praises fun at Mr. Depew, but extends the harshest criticism to the United States. The paper says that when Mr. Depew extends his views from his own to other countries his sympathies are a little incomplete.

"We are not sure," it adds, "that he is quite just in his historical review."

Continuing, the Times says: "We have no wish to depreciate the value and importance of the many services the United States has rendered to the old world and ourselves. Not the least among them is the fact that the country of a material prosperity greater than ever before known, and an energy and resolution which have done much to make the powers of the world obedient to man and which never, perhaps, have displayed themselves on so stupendous a scale as in the yet unfinished preparations for the Chicago exhibition."

It would be idle to say that there are other countries that could do the same if they tried. The fact remains that the United States have done what no other country has ever done, and have proved to the world what wonders can be executed by industry, enterprise and the animating by patriotism and the resolve to lead in everything."

Died Aged 107 Years.

CLARKSVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 24.—Aunt Betsey Moore, who lived nearly 100 years of age and without doubt the oldest person in all this section, died at the residence of Miss Jones, who lives on the Montgomery line, in Robertson county. She had passed through the vicissitudes of two wars, and was conscious to the hour of her death, giving reminiscences of the closing of the last and beginning of the present century.

WATER SCARCITY.

It Becomes Necessary to Guard Locomotive Tanks From Suffering People.

READING, Pa., Oct. 24.—The extent of the inconvenience and suffering caused by the great scarcity of water at points north of here can hardly be imagined, and it is stated as an actual fact that some places are suffering from drought. It is actually necessary to guard the tanks of the locomotives to prevent the people from carrying off the water. It is reported that one of the divisions of the Lehigh Valley railroad the water to supply the engine is transported from Port Clinton by engine. Leading is one of the few cities in the Schuylkill valley where water supply has not been affected by the drought. Even here the drought mountain fires have broken out at several places.

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT.

Seven Persons Killed and Ten Wounded at Los Angeles, Cal.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 24.—A disaster of a celebration here ended with an awful accident. Henry Wilson, who was in charge of the fireworks, had arranged to fire a salute of ten bombs. The bombs consisted of short lengths of cast-iron pipe, in which were placed dynamite. One of the pipes exploded resulting in the death of seven persons and the wounding of ten. Two went off successfully, but the third burst, doing the execution of a bomb. The persons who were killed outright, ten badly injured and a number seriously injured. He suffered much loss of blood, and amputation may be necessary, while he may lose his life. He is a man of 40 years of age.

Some of the ministers were picked up some time ago, and the reason given by the ministers for not attending is pressure of business.

NEW AND FATAL DISEASE.

A Japanese Vessel Arrives at New York With Berth Hot.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—A new disease, contagious and fatal, has reached this port, causing much alarm among the health authorities at quarantine. The disease is imported from Japan, where it is known as berli ber. The bark H. P. Cann, arrived off quarantine Sunday, 170 days out from Iloilo, and reported that two deaths from the disease had occurred en route. Seaman Thomas Russell died on September 23, and Carpenter John Nugent on October 8. Both were buried at sea. When the ship arrived at Norfolk, Va., the first mate and seven men who were stricken with berli ber were put ashore and sent to the hospital.

The disease is unknown here. The authorities are at a loss how to handle it should other ships follow with the disease on board. The Cann is laden with sugar and tea, and makes the third vessel which has reached this port in the past two weeks with berli ber. The disease is said to resemble the yellow fever somewhat, but it is more fatal. It is reported that the ship was quarantined and thoroughly disinfected, while stringent measures will be adopted to cope with the disease from other vessels arriving from the fever-stricken Japanese ports.

There is Another Conflict, in Which the Colored People are Killed.

The white citizens are armed and well supplied with rifles is rather deficient. The negroes are well armed and are in camp about one mile from town. The skeletons are believed to be those of persons who were either aborigines or prehistorians. Near by are two mounds, stately and sharply, their sides and summits overgrown with forest trees of uncertain age. Man's efforts looking to the opening of these mounds have been made, but their owners have always obstinately refused to allow them to be disturbed. The discovery and the sequence of events are of the greatest importance, and will, no doubt, attract the active attention of scientists who are seeking the "missing link."
